

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 A hardware simulation and validation system is provided using a plurality of signal interface controllers to exchange stimulus and response signals with a hardware simulation. The action of the signal interface controllers is co-ordinated by a test scenario manager which exchanges test scenario controlling messages with the signal interface controllers. The test scenario controlling messages specify simulation actions to be performed and when those simulation actions are to be performed.

10 [Figure 1]

